Tim Behling was born in Aiken, South Carolina, and wakes up every day with an unwavering commitment to leadership and impacting the lives of others through positive engagement. From an early age, his goal has always been to live a life that embodied leadership and impact.

Tim is a first-generation graduate of the University of South Carolina-Aiken, where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. In 2015, Tim founded Successteam Foundation for Youth Development, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization specializing in Educational Youth Development. Successteam has impacted over 12,000 students, primarily high school, via Leadership Development, College Readiness, and Workforce Development.

When asked what motivates him to keep going, Tim responds: "Caring about our future means caring about our youth. Everyone youth deserves an opportunity and a safe space; through Successteam – we're here to provide one."
